

Call for candidates – Tenure track position in Cultural Anthropology

The Department of Sociology and Anthropology at Ariel University invites applications for tenure-track positions in Cultural Anthropology. Candidates are expected to have established an exemplary track record both in research (as evident from high quality publications) and in teachings in Hebrew of undergraduate and graduate courses.

Requirements:

- Ph.D. in Cultural Anthropology
- Pot Doc residency
- Experience in applied anthropology \ work organization is a head start
- Experience in community studies is a head start

Accepted applicants will be expected to initiate research, teach, supervise graduate students, apply for grants and take a part in all department activities.

Application should include:

- A cover letter describing existing and planned areas of research
- An updated curriculum vita, including an updated list of publications
- Teaching interests and previous teaching experience, including Results of teaching evaluation (if available)
- Copies of 3 published articles
- Three academic references, including contact information

Please submit applications to the secretary of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, Mrs. Natalie Fogel natalief@ariel.ac.il

Sincerely,

Dr. Uzi Ben-Shalom

Chair, The Department of Sociology and Anthropology

Only appropriate candidates will be notified.